Circolo Filologico
MILAN, 2018

During Salone del Mobile 2018, Ingo Maurer presented new works at a new venue: The central piece of the exhibition at Circolo Filologico was an illuminated ceiling - a large installation made out of approximately. 140 inflatable tubes equipped with RGBW LEDs, programmed with dynamic light content. The inflatable tubes are special versions of Blow Me Up, a lamp designed by Theo Möller, and presented at Euro luce 2017. The installation was part of Ingo Maurer's stand at light+building in Frankfurt this year, but in Milan a new version has been on display.
